Cast and Crew at The Apurva Kempinski Bali
Tradition and life seamlessly blend together on the island. Nestled within a vast tropical country, Bali is home to many temples, earning it a reputation as the Island of Thousand Temples or Island of the Gods.

The enclave’s alluring charms lay in the way Balinese uphold traditions. While remaining open-minded and adaptable to modern contributions, the locals stay true to their roots. From vibrant offerings decorating the streets in a manner of thankfulness to locals dressed in traditional attire performing religious rituals with diligence, every aspect of their life revolves around balance and harmony.

The Balinese way of life is reflected in Tri Hita Karana, the key life philosophy of the island. This principle represents three causes of well-being, interconnection between God, people and universe.

Ultimately, it is a land of beautiful coastlines, lush green forests and towering mountains. A place where people embrace the simplicity of everyday living, surrounding themselves with unending passion and spirituality.
As an archipelago with densely diversified culture, Indonesia established its unique identity with a long history of reigning empires, and along with them, multi-cultural influences touching every aspect of life in the nation.

The nation found its roots in the golden era of Majapahit, the majestic kingdom which reached its peak in the mid-14th century under the leadership of King Hayam Wuruk and his trusted prime minister Gajah Mada.

Under their rule, Majapahit expanded their territory, stretching from the island of Sumatra to New Guinea, with the eastern and central parts of Java along with the island of Bali as their core domain. The great span of Majapahit is believed to be the foundation of Indonesia as we know it.

Throughout the age of Majapahit, culture and tradition flourished into abundance; from the architectural style that influenced both Java and Bali, to the arts and crafts existing as valuable artifacts of today, the story of Majapahit passed endless knowledge and wisdom fundamental to the country.

Honouring the nation’s belief of unity in diversity, The Apurva Kempinski Bali establishes its distinctiveness as a tribute to the richness of Indonesian cultural heritage.
Internationally recognised for expressing a distinctive design attitude, the award-winning architect, Budiman Hendropurnomo of Denton Corker Marshall drew his aesthetic inspiration from the Balinese tradition, way of living and art of balance. Balinese believe that harmony in life is a combination of Panca Maha Butha or Five Elements consist of Akasa (Ether), Bayu (Air), Tejia (Fire), Apah (Water), and Pertiwi (Earth)

These five elements truly reflect the Modern-Balinese architecture of the resort. Entering the lobby through porte-cochere, guests will be immersed by numerous bodies of water, offering a moment of solitude and comfort. Water represents energy, and emotions within ourselves, love and compassionate thoughts.

The majestic Grand Staircase composition is inspired by Bali’s mother temple, Besakih. This signature architecture showcases 250 flight of stairs. Reflecting Bali’s iconic terraced paddy field, the Cliff Suites and its waterfall hill took inspiration from the Subak (irrigation system) philosophy. For Balinese, Subak is not only a mere irrigation system, it also exemplifies the Balinese principle of Tri Hita Karana – interrelation between God, human and nature. The element of Balinese architecture is further showcased on the Cliff Suites’ rocky hill by the application the natural rocks and off-white stone cladding. The natural characteristic of Bali is unveiled from the Bougenville roofs and lush tropical gardens.
The lobby’s Gebyok is artfully sketched with Gunungan Wayang, each piece beautifully crafted by local artisans. According to the Javanese ancient history, Gunungan Wayang was interpreted as a prominent gate of the Kingdom. Now, this design symbolizes the interconnection between the universe’s five elements – or in Balinese philosophy renowned as Panca Maha Bhuta.

Incorporated fabrics, motifs and arts such as Flores’ woven fabric Tenun Ikat, and artistic Borneo and Toraja’s art design are reminiscence of Indonesian ancient craftsmanship. Throughout the resort, the neutral colors schemes dominate the interior as a reflection of Indonesia’s local material and breezy ambience of the resort.

Designed by the highly-acclaimed interior designer Rudi Dodo of Trivium Design Group, the thought-provoking design of The Apurva Kempinski Bali reflects Indonesia’s tropical characteristics. Rich, exotic woods are applied in the accommodations. Javanese influences can be felt in the Pendopo lobby design. During the era of Majapahit Kingdom, Pendopo was an important part of the building, initially a place to put offerings in religious ceremonies or a resting place for the King and other nobles. Nowadays, Pendopo functions as a place of meeting or gathering. A meticulously designed Gebyok, a renowned carved partition from Java, enhances the artistic expression of the lobby.
Standing atop the majestic cliff of Nusa Dua, with breathtaking views of the Indian Ocean and tropical garden, The Apurva Kempinski Bali offers the epitome of beachfront luxury. This grand property presents itself as a majestic open-air theatre, an embodiment of Indonesian elegance.

The Apurva translates as “unique and magnificent” in Sanskrit, embracing Kempinski’s dedication to bringing unique experiences to life.
